“ I was sorry to have gotten the message on Sunday Morning, that Barb had pass on. Barb was a very sad and angry person. She was sick so much of her life and she'd feel better then something else would pop up. It seems she was angry at me the most and it really affected me. I tried so hard for so long to try to bring peace between the two of us, but at no prevail. I finally gave up. She was angry at the Lord which bothered me most. I hope she mad peace with him before she went. I'm happy she is not suffering anymore and that when she gets to heaven I can just about imagine the homecoming for all. God Bless you Barb, and we'll be seeing each other soon, I suppose.

“ I had the pleasure of knowing and caring for Barb at stonecrest. She was a sweet heart and will be deeply missed by all who had the pleasure of knowing her. She was a huge tigers fan and loved to watch them every time they were on even if she fell asleep during a late game. She was always caring and worried about other friends who fell ill. She loved warm milk with bread in it to eat. She always walked fast when she walked around the halls. We would tell her slow down, she would just laugh. She loved her husband who she truly missed so much and talked about alot . You will be missed Barbara and thank you for the memories you shared with me. I will miss you and you will always carry a special place in my heart.

“ I was her chaplain when she was with Grace Hospice. I was so saddened to hear of her passing. I so enjoyed my visits with Barbara. She was always so happy to see me. I often would bring her mocha coffee and cinnamon rolls which she dearly enjoyed. At Christmas time we had our picture taken with Santa Clauss. She teased me that she was Mrs. Santa Clauss. She wanted a cross to wear around her neck for Christmas. So for Christmas I surprised her with a beautiful cross. She was so excited that you would think I gave her a million dollars. To her daughters and grandchildren - your mother loved you so very much and at the end of our visit we always held hands and prayed for each and every one of you. May God give you peace and comfort and strength to endure, not only for today, but for the days ahead. I loved your mother and so cherished our friendship. I will miss her smiles, hugs and her curly grey hair.
