“ The Remote-Controlled hobby community is devastated by the loss of one it's greatest. Both a promoter and advocate for the hobby, Matt's willingness to help anyone was well known. His knowledge of where to find that rare part to the buying, selling & trading of the latest and greatest RC's & parts available. His wheeling & dealing was know both statewide and nationally, but most of all Matt's integrity of always being fair and honest with everyone, on every deal was legendary and an inspiration to all. Matt will be remembered for sense of humor whether it be a funny story or him sending you a funny tic-toc video . To his sense of fair play and his willingness to reach out help anyone anywhere, if you needed Matt he would find a way to be there. I am sure Matt is already looking for the "Hobby Shop" in heaven & where to find the best places to go "Bash" his newest RC speed demon, or where to go test his skills with his rock crawler. Gone but never forgotten RIP my friend.
