“ I know we didn't know each other as well as I would have liked, but you were still my friend, Tonya. You will always be remembered as a wonderful and caring person who was fun to be around. You were so full of life the last time you visited me, and I can't help but have good memories of our friendship and of you. I hope that you have finally found your peace, and may God always watch over you for eternity. I can't stop thinking about you, I look at your Facebook every day, just to be reminded of you. I wish that I could have known the pain you were going through so that I could have tried to comfort you.
